

Listening to K-Love on the radio makes my day. Perhaps by getting rid of a station like this we can get more screaming furniture and carpet salesman to blast their stupidity over the airwaves and then I will take the radio and throw it out the window. Is there really anything wrong with something positive?